Michael didn't really like adventure but that day he had no choice.

The story began 3 weeks ago, Michael went to the library.

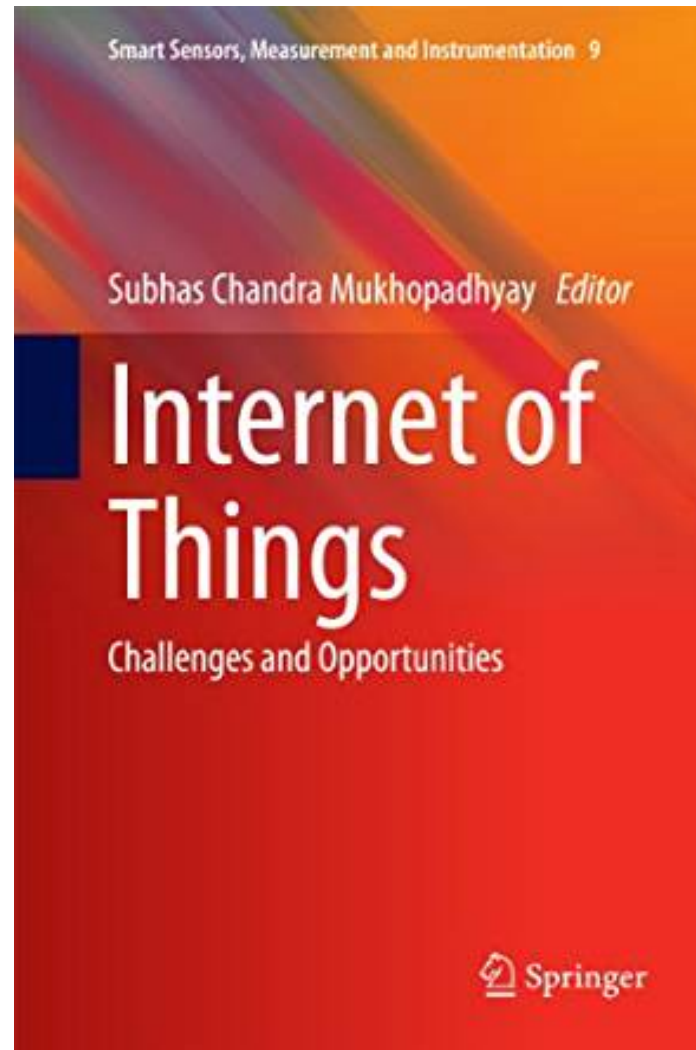

He is a computer engineering student at Morelia's Technological Institute.

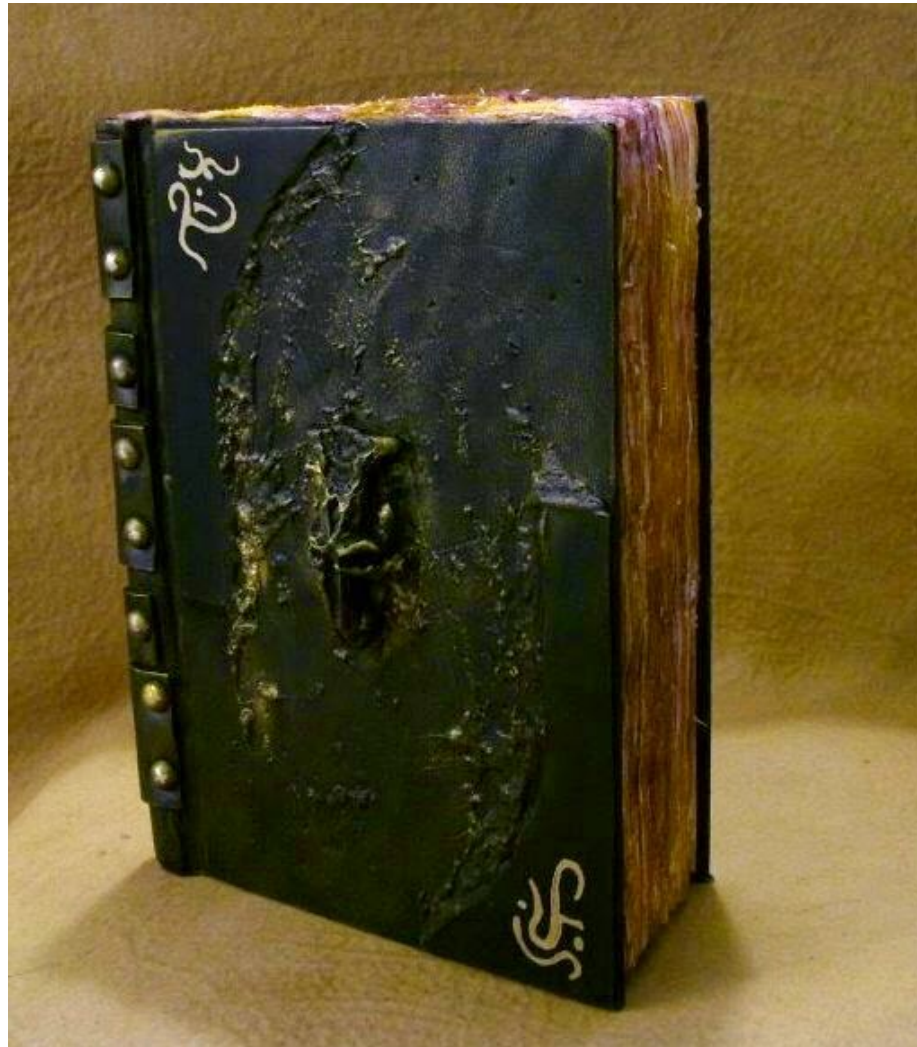

He often went to the library, because he liked to read a lot of books. He enjoyed to discover new books.

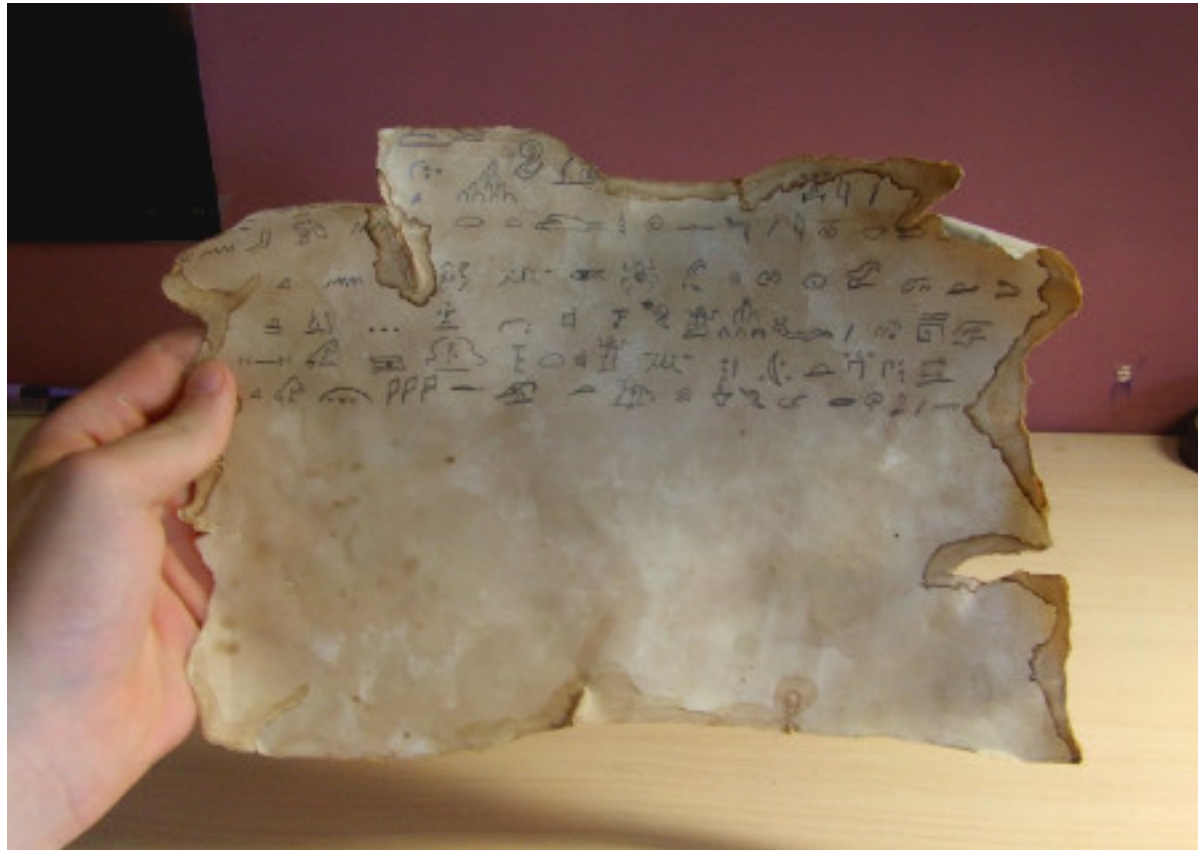

One friday, he went to the library to try to find information about sensors.

Michael opened a black book, it looked like an old ancient book.

In the middle of the book, he founded a piece of cow skin with the legend “tsiripeta 19961253101104117”.

It was so strange and he tooked the skin and went to his house.

All the weekend, in his mind, like a voice, he heard the message constantly.

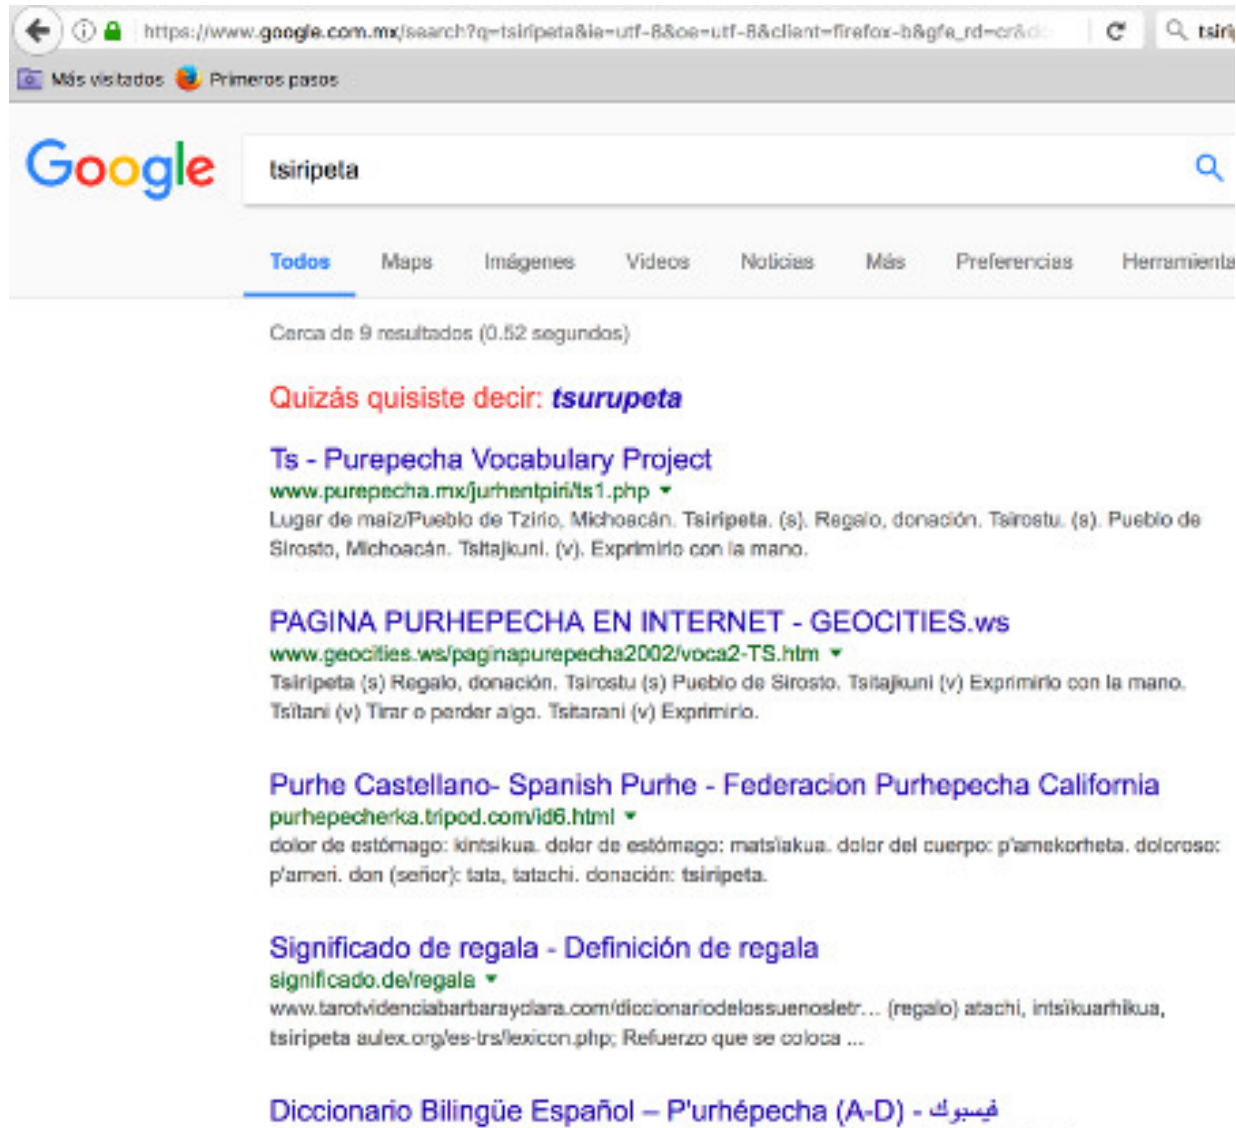

He liked the challenges. What was the meaning of that? What kind of word was that?

He returned to school, and all the week tried to decode the message.

He was working with a GPS program and suddenly jumped an idea in his mind, the number was a GPS coordinate!!

He wrote the number in Google Maps. The point was next to the Purepecha pyramide, 30 kilometers at the north of his school, Michael didn't really like adventure but that day he had no choice. He had to go!

Thank You!
